Assessment

Eligible applications will be assessed by the Managing Director of LiRN in consultation with LiRN's Board of Directors and Officers and the Innovation Sandbox Project Manager on the following criteria:

Relevance and Impact:

- The project addresses clearly articulated challenges or opportunities
- The project outcomes meet the eligibility criteria listed above
- The proposed activities are relevant, suitable, and consistent with the project's objectives
- There is a plan to share knowledge and results within the network and beyond (participation in LiRN hosted knowledge sharing events are the minimum requirement)

Feasibility:

- The applicant has the expertise and capacity to successfully carry out the project, or has clearly articulated what supports it would need
- The budget is reasonable and the workplan is realistic and aligned with the project's objectives

Accessibility, equity, diversity, social justice, and decolonization (if applicable to the project)

If your proposed project addresses challenges and gaps related to accessibility, equity, diversity, social justice, or decolonization, you must demonstrate that appropriate cultural protocols for the community/communities involved are being observed and you have the active participation, collaboration, involvement, and empowerment of the specific community/communities impacted by the project.

LiRN thanks the Law Foundation of Ontario for funding this project.
